

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecent. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

LEGAL CIRCLES WATCHING CASE APPEALED TO U. S. SUPREME COURT

Legal circles at Sherman, Texas, are watching with a great deal of interest the developments in the case of Bailey vs. the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, not particularly because it was tried and a judgment for $20,000 personal injury damages was awarded in the 15th district court, but because of the far-reaching effect the hearing to be had in the United States supreme court may have on railroad damage suit litigation in Texas. The judgment of the Grayson county jury was affirmed by the court of civil appeals and the writ of error denied by the supreme court of the state, making it final so far as the courts of Texas go; but the announcement from Washington that Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court, has granted a writ of error applied for by the counsel for the railroads, it is believed will cause to be finally settled the claim that the Texas fellow-servants' bill is unconstitutional, in that it is violative of the provisions of the 14th amendment to the federal constitution.

The railroads have contended, since the enactment of the fellow-servants' act in Texas, that it was untenable, because it discriminated in suits for personal injury damages between railroads and persons or other corporations furnishing hazardous employment, in that in no other line of such employment, save railroads, was the employers held to be responsible when injuries complained of were the result of the act of a fellow-servant or employee other than the actual employer or manager, superintendent, etc.

Should the ruling at Washington sustain this contention, then railroads in the matter of such damage suits would be placed upon the same footing as mills, factories, contractors, etc., and naturally the number of personal injury damage judgments greatly reduced.

RAILROAD NOTES—

F. T. Devine, a switchman, has returned to Las Vegas from Trinidad. Brakeman L. Maxwell, who has been off a month, has reported for duty again.

Harry W. Mock of La Junta, and Miss Zelle Belle Plunkett, were married at the home of the bride's parents in Dodge City, Kan., a few days ago. They are now at home at Howell, Kan., where Mr. Mock is in charge as operator for the Santa Fe.

Conductor J. H. Fisher has been assigned to the Hebron coal run, relieving Conductor E. B. Blair, who goes back to the main line.

Owen Galbraith, formerly chief clerk in Trainmaster Woodruff's office, left La Junta for Topeka, where he will go to work in the Santa Fe general manager's office.

D. L. Moore is a new railroad employee, who arrived with his wife and two children from Las Vegas. Mr. Moore is a car inspector and will be employed in the yards as such for the Santa Fe company.—Belen Tribune.

V. R. Stiles of El Paso, Texas, has retired as general passenger agent of the El Paso & Southwestern Railway company, and his duties will be assumed in addition to his own, by A. N. Brown, the general freight agent of the system.

The first case which will be taken up at the present term of court in Las Cruces will probably be that of the government vs. Conductor Hank Maynard of El Paso, who was arrested several weeks ago at San Marcial on the charge of smuggling Chinese. A. W. Miller, the negro porter, who was arrested on the same train, will also be placed on trial at the same time.

The first of the railway gasoline motor cars to be used by the Santa Fe Railway company on its branch lines arrived in Topeka Friday. It came from St. Joseph in charge of F. C. Fox, general superintendent of the eastern grand division, and James M. Connell, general passenger agent.

The car passed through here for Los Angeles under its own power. The next car which will follow in two or three days will be placed in service between Chanute and Pittsburg. Other cars will be assigned to other branch lines as they are turned out.

Mexico to Improve Lines. St. Petersburg, April 7.—The Mexican minister to Russia has requested that government to send a circular to Russian manufacturers, asking for bids for new railroad construction in Mexico.

A. C. Mace arrived at Roy from Chelsea, Okla., and will begin immediately to put in a crop on his ranch near there.

TODAY ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE OF SHILOH

their fondest hopes were buried; it was there that they for the first time realized that Southern chivalry and dash had met its equal in northern valor and endurance; it was the beginning of the war and also the beginning of the end of the war—for the ghost of Appomattox was ever after them.

The army of the Tennessee had disembarked from the transports and went in camp near Pittsburg Landing, March 21st, 1862. Sherman's fifth division, Buckland's brigade, (to which the writer belonged) was on the right of the Shiloh church. From that time up to the great battle we had put in the time drilling and organizing, etc., as we had only been in the service a few months. It was well understood by the men that we were waiting for General Buell's army, when we were to move against Corinth, where General Albert Sidney Johnson's confederate army was reported in force and fortified. To this General Johnson beat us to it. His great army in force struck us in our camps or near them unexpectedly about 7 a. m., April 6th, resulting in driving the Union army back to near the river, but in doing so his own army was badly cut up and its loss terrific. General Johnson and many of his officers and men lay dead on the field, and his army had failed utterly to accomplish the object of the attack. But they had afflicted a terrible punishment on their enemies. When night closed the darkest day America had ever seen up to that time, had passed into history.

The plans of General Johnson were fully known to only a few of his most intimate officers. They were to strike the army under Grant at Pittsburg Landing before Buell could join him, and the tactics were to force the Union left flank back to the Landing and double the army up in the marshes of Owl creek, compelling its surrender. This was as far as General Johnson's plans were generally known, but he had also made all arrangements for crossing the Tennessee river and either capture Buell or disperse his army, and, if successful, other scattered forces would be ordered to join him, and, there being no organized forces in his front that would be able to impede his march to the Ohio river, he would cross and transfer the seat of war to the north.

Had these plans been successfully executed (and from the Confederate side they appeared feasible) and had not General Johnson lost his life in the first day's battle, and he had succeeded in destroying the army of the Tennessee, it is not difficult now to realize what the result might have been upon the destiny of our country.

The Confederacy had already been recognized and had the friendship of some of the nations of Europe, and there were others undecided and waiting to see which would prove the stronger side, and whose cause they would then be ready to espouse, and a Union disaster and a Confederate success of such magnitude would not only have brought general recognition, but also such aid as would have opened the blockaded ports of the south and in the end established the southern Confederacy.

Darkness having settled down on that dark and bloody field, the "rebel yell," we had heard so many times during the day, died away as the Confederate troops fell back to our camps, and now the elements seemed to try to drown the life out of all who had not had it shot out, for the rain fell in torrents. General Grant sent his chief engineer out to inspect the lines and report. Major McPherson (afterward major general of the U. S. volunteers) made the inspection of the lines and riding up to General Grant who was calmly smoking his cigar, exposed to the storm under the great oak tree near the Landing, the general said: "Well, Mac, what is the condition of the lines?" "Bad enough, General," replied McPherson, and then gave a detailed account of the conditions, the organizations captured, or scattered, the great number of batteries lost, etc. The general made no reply, and after waiting for some minutes the major asked: "Under this condition what do you propose to do?" Quick came the answer from that great soldier: "Reform the lines and strike them at daylight in the morning; what did you suppose we would do?"

The lines were re-formed. General Lew Wallace, who had been floundering in the mud during the day, trying to get to the field with his five thousand veterans, was conducted in position. General Buell's army was ferried across the Tennessee river and assigned their place in the army. Now, gentlemen of the south, your doom is sealed, and Beauregard did

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

Spread on Some Crackers—Not the Slightest Injury Resulted from Little Fellow's Escapade—In Most Positive Way Ingredients of

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE
SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the state room and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment."

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chafings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Pupots, London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 2, rue de la Paix; Australia, N. Towns & Co. Sydney; South Africa, London, Ltd., Cape Town; India, London, etc.; Russia, Ferret, Moscow; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokyo; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Tropics, Boston.

not water his horse in the Tennessee river, or in I—that day. (As it was claimed he said he would do that morning). About 6 o'clock the order came to advance, and in a very few minutes the great army of the Union was steadily advancing over the ground they had been driven the day before. The fighting was terrible but the "rebel yell" began to die down as battery after battery was taken from them, and brigade after brigade was routed. About 2:30 p. m., April 7th, the whole army was in full retreat and the great battle of Shiloh belonged to history.

On Shiloh's dark and bloody ground The dead and wounded lay; Among them was a drummer boy, Who beat the drum that day.

A wounded soldier held him up His drum was by his side; He smiled, shook hands, death seized the boy Who prayed before he died.

"Oh, mother," said the dying boy, "Look down from heaven on me; Have mercy on my sinful soul And take me home to thee."

"I have loved my country and my God To serve them both I have tried." He smiled, shook hands, death seized the boy Who prayed before he died.

Each soldier wept like a child, Stout hearts were they and brave, His flag the winding sheet, God's book The key unto his grave.

They wrote upon a simple board These words, "This is a guide To those who would mourn the drummer boy, Who prayed before he died."

KANSAS CITY MARKETS.

Special correspondence.

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 5.—The run of cattle last week was 32,000 head, about 2,000 head less than previous week. Receipts of cattle from the range country were quite liberal first part of the week, but dwindled to almost nothing towards the end. Bulk of the arrivals again ran to beef grades, very few stock or feeding cattle included, and yet market on this class made little or no improvement. Steers declined 15 to 25c the first part of the week, but closed with the loss regained. The run of cattle here today is 10,000 head, market on steers steady to 10c lower, other grades about steady, Colorado steers $5.50 to $5.25, top steers today $6.50, cows $3.00 to $5.00, heifers $4.00 to $6.10, stockers $4.00 to $5.25, feeders $4.75 to $5.60, veal calves

Rheumatism

More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of is all that is needed and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. Price 25c; large size, 50c.

$4.75 to 7.25, quarantine steers steady to weak, steers $5.25 to 6.00, cows $3.50 to 4.00. Demand from eastern killers continues good. Cattle receipts for month of March at this point broke all records for that month at 170,000 head, an increase of 6,000 over same month last year.

The run of sheep and lambs last week amounted to 33,000 head, approximately the same number as was received during previous week. The market closed with a gain of 25 to 35c. Top lambs sold at $8.15, and spring lambs up to $15. The run of sheep and lambs today is 9,000, market steady to 10c lower. Lambs today ranged from $7.25 to 7.90, yearlings $7.25, wethers $6.25, ewes $5.85. Clipped lambs are worth $6.50 to 7.00, goats $3.50 to 4.50. There is a good demand for stock and feeding grades, receipts of which are light. Some feeding lambs sold recently at $6.85.

Words to Freeze the Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C., by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks' use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infallible for Coughs, and Colds, it's the safest, surest cure of desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c and $1.00 at all druggists. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.
